

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In some embodiments, a method includes providing a circuit board having a plurality of holes formed therethrough and mounting a spring to an underside of the circuit board such that the mounted spring has a plurality of holes each of which is aligned with a respective one of the holes in the circuit board.